DONOR LIST • NOTICE OF GRATITUDE • ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

With heartfelt gratitude, we proudly acknowledge the kind donors and supporters whose generosity helps us continue caring for helpless and needy animals.

NOTICE OF GRATITUDE AND ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Here in Barh, all the volunteers are much younger than me, yet they lovingly and respectfully address me as “Satya Bhaiya.” I believe this comes from their affection and respect, and I feel truly grateful for it.

GOPAL SINGH AND SUBHAM SINGH

Among them are Gopal Singh and Subham Singh. All members of their family, including siblings, parents, and grandparents, lovingly call me “Sir.” I genuinely feel proud and deeply touched by the affection and respect they show me. They treat me as one of their own family members, and I value that bond very much.

ANSHU VISHWAKARMA

His dedication and concern for poor and needy living beings around him—especially animals and birds—remind me of the feelings I had at a young age. He is struggling to find better opportunities in life, yet whenever I have needed him, he has always stood beside me. I sincerely appreciate his compassion, dedication, and support.

ARYAN RAJPUT, SACHIN KUMAR AND THEIR FRIEND CIRCLE

Aryan Rajput, Sachin Kumar, and their friend circle have helped in arranging rice and chuda in generous quantities whenever available. At times, they have also extended financial support. Their practical help and concern are deeply appreciated.

DILLIP KUMAR BEHERA

Throughout my school and college years, I had many friends, but my dear friend Dillip has always been especially close to me. He has consistently supported me and believed in my work, particularly in my honesty and dedication. He has already helped me financially on several occasions, and I remain deeply grateful for his trust and friendship.

SHRIKANT MISHRA

He is my respected elder brother. Although we are not related by blood, he helped me during times of need. I do not know why he placed such trust in me when some other elder brothers chose not to understand my situation, but I will always value his faith and support. His kindness is not limited to me—he helps many people in his contact without calculating personal loss or profit. Because of his character and actions, I sincerely consider him an emblem of humanity.

MY FAMILY'S SUPPORT

My father may appear very strict to everyone in our family, but he also has a very soft heart for us. He helped me greatly in becoming an engineer. In fact, he wanted me to become a Mechanical Engineer, but I eventually became an Electronics Engineer. My mother is my best friend. She has faith in me, sometimes even more than I have in myself. My sister has given me substantial financial support whenever I needed it, and I have not yet been able to repay her fully. Similarly, my brother-in-law, my sister's husband, has helped me whenever I asked. I am deeply thankful to my entire family for standing beside me.

MR. SUPRAKASH MOHAPATRA

During my engineering career, I had a smaller circle of friends. Among them, Mr. Suprakash Mohapatra is one of the people who is especially close to me. His friendship and support hold a special place in my life.

ATUL MANAV AND ANANT KUMAR

I first met them while rescuing a male calf near ANS College. Mr. Atul Manav is associated with the Nischal Group, which works in different areas of social service. One of its important efforts is helping protect people from drowning-related deaths in the Ganga River. I appreciate their concern for living beings and their spirit of service.

NISHANT KUMAR

Before my arrival in Barh, Nishant and his family were already taking care of the dogs living around their house. Whenever he was available, he joined me in my work and offered his support. I sincerely appreciate the care shown by him and his family.

RAJIV KUMAR

He has been feeding biscuits to street dogs at night. I once saw him offering biscuits to the dogs, and during my earlier days I sometimes joined him. He is a younger person with a speech and hearing disability, and I appreciate his quiet act of compassion and care for street dogs.

A WORD FOR FRIENDS WHO COULD NOT HELP

I also understand that some of my friends may genuinely wish to help me, but their own circumstances may prevent them from doing so. I do not measure friendship only by financial or practical support. Good intentions, concern, and affection also have great value.

MY HEARTFELT THANKS

I am here to sincerely thank every one of you for your support, concern, trust, affection, and encouragement. Whether your help was large or small, visible or silent, it has meant something to me. I will always remain grateful to those who stood beside me and believed in the work I am trying to do for helpless and needy living beings.

With respect, gratitude, and heartfelt thanks to all.
